1. Applicant's election with traverse of Group I in Paper No. 5 is acknowledged.

The traversal is on the ground(s) that the examiner has not established that the process as claimed in all the method claims can be used to make a different article than that of the article claims. This is not found persuasive because the process as defined in claim 1 can be used to make a different article than that claimed such as article wherein the pallet does not have a configuration for transport by fork lift. The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1, 2, 9-11, 13-15, 17 and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Miller in view of Pignataro ('083). Applicant's arguments have been considered but are not deemed persuasive. The primary reference discloses the invention substantially as claimed; see column 7, lines 46-63. However it does not disclose removing the sidewalls from the tread. The secondary reference discloses removing the sidewalls from the tread prior to shipping in a recycling process. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to remove the sidewalls from the tread as taught by the secondary reference in the process of the primary reference if extra processing steps and expense could be tolerated and depending on the desired final article that is to be made. Applicant argues that Miller does not disclose tire mats on pallets without requiring the strapping of the mat bundles. However the instant claims do not preclude the presence of straps to hold the bundles together. Applicant also argues that Miller does not disclose the method step of preventing the accumulation of water in the strips. However, Miller clearly discloses stacking the tire mats to form a generally solid form and therefore would inherently prevent the accumulation of water; see column 4, lines 57-62. Applicant argues that there is additional labor to precut the sidewalls as shown in Miller. Precutting the sidewalls in Miller would not appear to require any more labor and expense than applicant's precutting and removal of the side walls. In fact applicant's process would appear to require additional labor and expense since his removed sidewalls must be handled and stored whereas in Miller the side walls remain with the tire carcass during handling and storage.

4. Claims 3-8, 12 and 16 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
